Hi Fiorhina:

I'm really happy and wanted to share my story with your future clients:

"I am a 70-year old female corporate lawyer in New York City. For at least five years I had neither a neck nor a chin but a huge pouch where those two parts of the body should meet. I also developed droopy eyelids. I avoided mirrors and cameras like the plague. More than anything, I wanted to have a chinline and to be pouchless. Three plastic surgeons whom I consulted told me I would have to lose weight before they could do the pouch surgery. Then I consulted with Dr. Amiya Prasad who was like a breath of fresh air. On some level, I didn't believe that he could be a skilled plastic surgeon because he didn't have the aura of arrogance which surrounds so many of those specialists. He is a thoroughly nice, genuine guy. And, even more than that, he is extremely skilled and uses the latest techniques, some of which were developed by him. My surgery for both the eyelids and pouch took about three and a half hours during which I was, intentionally, partially awake. There was no blood! There was no pain during or at any time after the surgery! There are no scars! What I do have now are wide-open eyes, a neck and a chin and I've been told that I look at least ten years younger. I would be happy to speak to anyone who is considering this surgery with Dr. Prasad but is wavering over making the commitment to do so."

Best,

Irene
